Proven Trade Contacts mission is to guide its readers to the right direction. The magazine intends to strive and fulfill its mission by maximizing the customer satisfaction. Proven Trade Contacts is one of such great tools, making our readers aware of different kind of Medical Exhibitions organized over the World. The circulation of the magazine is Worldwide.

Magazine's objective is to update the readers on industry's latest news and developments, making sure one is aware of the moves and trends that shape the dynamic world of medical devices and healthcare industry. Medical trade fairs information is one of the important tool to update, which is done through magazine's column "Calendar Of Events". The kind of exposure medical goods and products get through the exhibitions no other way can meet up for the same.

The manufacturers come to know the requirements of the customers more specifically and the customers learn many new things by practically viewing the products. The medical fraternity itself comes to know how they are equipped better then they were. The wide spectrum at the exhibition makes the visitors and the exhibitors to enhance their knowledge through newly launched products. Seminars too give useful information.

The magazine provides complete advertising package through its various columns for promotion of medical industry related products and services. The package comprises release of display advertisements, publication of contact details along with product profile under heading Sellers, publication of lists of requirements under heading Buyers, publication of colored logo under heading "Click-in business" and listing of URL under heading Suggested Useful Sites.

The magazine is available in Hard Copy, Online, .pdf Format and Flip Book. Online and .pdf versions are available free of charge. To subscribe for email version or to download the Online version visit www.webptc.com/download

POST SHOW REPORTS

HKTDC Medical Devices and Supplies Fair concluded with over 11500 visitors. Organized by Hong Kong Trade Development Council (HKTDC) and co-organized by the Hong Kong Medical and Healthcare Device Industries Association, the fair attracted over 11,500 visitors from 70 countries.

A record of 280 exhibitors from 13 countries, had business discussions with not only visitors from countries like Thailand, Russia and Macau, but also from countries like United States of America, and Australia. It is clear indications that there is flourishing demand for medical products and services across many markets.

The medical industry is becoming a popular sector for the new generation of entrepreneurs, with many start-ups developing innovative medical products and services to capitalise on business opportunities in the sector. This year's Medical Fair saw the return of the start up zone, gathering a number of start-ups to present innovative ideas.

To help industry professionals monitor the pulse of the market, a series of seminars were also organized.

Bulmedica/Buldental organised at a larger scale in three Halls, once again brought together experts and healthcare professionals at one place. It was a great opportunity for experts and professionals to review the latest products and new technologies for modern medicine and dental medicine. The exhibition was held at Expo center, Sofia, Bulgaria and attracted more than 13000 visitors.

The forum offered opportunities for meeting between specialists and some of the leading companies in the sector and created business contacts. Over 200 Exhibitors from 20 countries had presented their products including high-tech products.

Seminars, demonstrations and presentations addressed the current trends in treatment and public safety.

The dental medicine sector too had attracted professionals from the field of dental treatment, prosthetic dentistry, dental equipment and furnishings Implantology was one of this year's highlights.
